

HD15 RGB Video Cables

Lynn Electronics' premium quality RGB Coax Video/Monitor Cables are designed to fully support all of the capabilities and advantages of the UL2919/2990 standards, including all the High Speed and data transmission. The cables will also provide superior performance in all other applications.

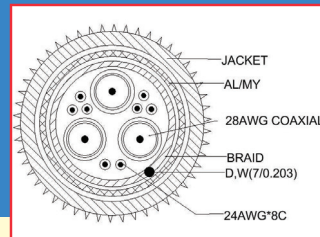

The HD15 RGB Video cables utilize a High Density D-Sub 15 position connector. The cables come either Male to Male or Male to Female version. cable with a ferrite core on each side. cable will perform flawless in all type of monitors, including all High Speed EMI/RFI Monitors.

- 3 - 28 AWG 75 Ohm Coax, UL 2919.
- 8 - 24 AWG Conductors.
- 24 AWG. Drain Wire
- Triple Shielded with an overall Foil & Braid, Black PVC Jacket and Molding
- 360° Copper Foil Shielding soldered around connector
- Ferrite Cores

Benefits of Lynn Electronics HD15 RGB Video Cables:

- D-subminiature High Density 15 position, Providing superior connector retention and shielding conductivity.
- Triple Shielded (Overall foil and braid) to meet UL 2919/2990 specifications, and ensure compliance with Ferrite Core with FCC requirements, reducing EMI/RFI interference. Each Coax individually shielded with a braid
- 360° Copper foil undermold shielding helps to prevent 100% Radio Frequency Interference (RFI)
- Ferrite Cores (Beads): The RF absorbing core material interacts directly with unwanted high frequency energy and dissipates it effectively while allowing data signals to pass unimpeded. It also control the unwanted after effects of high frequency microprocessor energy.
